

The Kingswood Players would like to express their appreciation to our audience for their continued support despite the production being moved from our regular May slot.

~

We are always interested in your view of our productions. . .

- Is this the first time you have joined us or are you a regular patron?
- Did you enjoy the evening?
- What type of production would you like included in our programme?

If you have access to the internet, please spend a few minutes giving us some feedback. Help us to plan a programme that entertains you!

~

For your diaries, our next production on Friday 19th & Saturday 20th October 2007 will be:

“You Must Remember This?”

Memories and songs from the years that followed the era of Music Hall.

The bar will be open; your supper will be served, so please book early and you will not be disappointed!

The Kingswood Players

present

Dead Guilty

A play by Richard Harris

Directed by Christine Clements

Fri 8th & Sat 9th June 2007

Performances 7.30 pm

at

Kingswood Community Centre

Dead Guilty

Characters played by:

Julia Darrow	Annette Dodd
Margaret Haddrell	Jill Rye
Gary	Kevin Rye
Anne Bennett	Pauline Goodridge
Coroner's voice	Roger Clements

The action of the play takes place in Julia Darrow's Victorian Villa in West London.

Time – the present

The set constructed and painted by
The Kingswood Players

There will be one 15 minute interval, between Acts, when refreshments will be available.

Behind the Scenes

Stage Manager	Ian Goodridge
Assistant Stage Managers	Sue Williams Mike Davis
Front of House	Lorraine Taylor Janet Burrows June Donovan Dave Brown
Lighting	David Williams Simon Williams
Properties	Emma Bye Sophie Flowers Teri Gauge
Sound Effects	Paul Taylor
Set Design	Richard Bond
Wardrobe	Kate Bond Margaret Mitchell
Refreshments	Brenda Yelland Margaret Rugman Richard Rugman Helen Fawsett