

Pantomime Ode from the Wardrobe Department!

'It's Robin Hood' said Richard, 'For pantomime this year'
And secretly inside I gave a quiet little cheer.
We've got the costumes, in a box, I felt all smug and cosy
An easy time I'll have of it, this panto's looking Rosie!

But, oh my dears, there came along a great big hulking spanner!
No young and pretty chorus line (Except for me and Hannah!)
There's Dave and Dave and James and Josh and not forgetting Ben
Needing to be villagers and handsome merry men!
To put them all in Lincoln tights is maybe not quite right
It's supposed to be a family show and not x rated sights!

So, with help from my own merry crew of Pat and Sue and Sue
We set about to dress them up, (Well what else could we do)?
They really looked a cheerful band with jerkins, boots and sash,
With jaunty hat and britches black, there was no saucy flash!

So, now our pantos over, all packed and put away
But never fear (and slap my thigh) we'll be back again to play!
